MARK EVAN SEGAL

Mark Segal is an attorney, originally from Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, who has been working as an international legal consultant since January 1994. He is a graduate of the prestigious University of Pennsylvania, with advanced degrees in law and international relations. He practiced law in Pennsylvania (state and federal courts) for nine years, specializing in civil and commercial litigation, before relocating to Lithuania in 1994. Since that time, he has worked and/or lived in the Baltic States, Central and Eastern Europe, the Balkans, the Caucasus, Ukraine, the Russian Federation, Central Asia, Asia, the Middle East, Africa, and Latin America. He has performed assignments in more than fifty countries in total.

Over the past thirty years, Mr. Segal has participated in numerous legal, judicial, and legislative reform projects. He has held senior positions on behalf of many different international organizations and assistance providers, including serving as Team Leader on ten European Union-sponsored projects. Counterparts on his assignments include parliaments, ministries, governmental institutions, courts, professional training institutions, professional associations, and non-governmental organizations. His work covers rule of law issues, legal reform, legislative drafting, judicial reform, court administration, civil society development, legal and judicial ethics, training of trainers, institution building, capacity development, and monitoring and evaluation. He specializes in raising the professional qualifications of legal professionals. This includes the organization and delivery of many hundreds of training events for many thousands of judges, prosecutors, attorneys, and mediators in dozens of countries. His seminars on Non-Verbal Communication for legal professionals have received significant attention.
